

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

THE NEW-YORK DAILY TRIBUNE IS PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING AND EVENING (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED)

BY THE TRIBUNE ASSOCIATION,

IN THE TRIBUNE BUILDINGS, CORNER OF NASSAU AND SPRUCE STREETS, OPPOSITE THE CITY HALL,

And delivered to City Subscribers at 15¢ cents per week. Mail Subscribers $6 per annum; in advance; $3 for 6 months.

THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE, A VERY LARGE PAPER FOR THE COUNTRY,

Published every Saturday Morning at the low price of 2¢ per number in advance. Three copies for 5¢; Five Copies for 10¢; Ten Copies for 12¢; Twenty Copies to any address (and any larger number at the rate of 1¢ per annum), $2. Twenty Copies to any address in the United States, $3; to Canada, $4; to the West Indies, $5; to Australia, $6; to New Zealand, $7; to South Africa, $8; to India, $10; to China, $12; to Japan, $15;

To Europe, $15; to the East Indies, $20; to Australia, $25.
Any person sending us a club of twenty or more will be entitled to an extra copy. Subscribers to commence at any time.

Advertisements in THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE cost ONE DOLLAR AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER LINE for each insertion. Nothing inserted for less than 4¢.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE is published every TUESDAY and FRIDAY MORNING. Price 6¢ per annum; Two Copies $1; Five Copies for 11¢.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE
FOR EUROPEAN CIRCULATION is published by the Dept. of our own Mail Steamer for Liverpool at 6¢ per annum postage included. Single Copies Five Cents. Address THE TRIBUNE ASSOCIATION, No. 154 Nassau-st., N. Y.

Special Notices.

The Fourth Ward Republican Association will hold their Regular Meeting on TUESDAY EVENING, Dec.
Dec. 10, 1861, at No. 372 Broadway, at 8 o'clock.

HENRY H. HUELT, President.

MORIS FERGUSON, Secretary.

The Eleventh Ward Republican Association will hold a special meeting on THIS (Tuesday) EVENING, Dec. 10, at the Hall No. 21 Broadway, at 7 o'clock.

PHILIP KEELEY, President.

CORNELIUS DONNELSON, Secretary.

Nineteenth Ward.—A regular meeting of the XIIX WARD REPUBLICAN ASSOCIATION will be held THIS TUESDAY EVENING, Dec. 10, 1861, at Headquarters, LAND-MANN'S, corner of 68th-st. and 3rd-av., at 7 o'clock.

JOHN RYAN, President.

ALIAS COOPER, Secretary.

S. W. VALENTINE, Secretary.

The Eighteenth Annual Report and Directory of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor in the City of New York, for the year 1860, will be published in October. It may be obtained as early as practicable, at their office, or immediately, by calling at the office, No. 33 Bible House, Astorplace. The following officers of the Association, and Members of the Ward Committees, are authorized to receive subscriptions:

JAMES DOWD, President, No. 29 Wall-st.

JAMES BOORMAN, Vice-President, No. 13 Washington-square.

JAMES LENOX, Vice-President, No. 35 Wall-st.

HORATIO ALLEN, Vice-President, No. 35 Washington-place.

A. T. STONE, Vice-President, No. 1 Vesey-st.

JOHN G. GREEN, Vice-President, No. 72 Broadway.

ROBERT B. MINTURN, Treasurer, No. 75 South-st.

Wards I.—JAMES C. RAMSEY, No. 16 Cedar-st.

II.—JAMES C. RAMSEY, No. 19 Barclay-st.

III.—OLIVER W. WOODFORD, No. 140 Madison-st.

V.—A. R. WETMORE, No. 81 Vesey-st.

VI.—STEPHEN CONOVER, No. 116 Leonard-st.

VII.—JOSEPH B. CALLES, No. 75 West 11th-st.

X.—DANIEL FRENCH, No. 1 Charlton-st.

X.—E. A. FEARHORN, No. 363 Broadway.

XI.—JAMES LEWIS, No. 215 Broadway.

XII.—LEWIS CHICHESTER, No. 22 East 11th-st.

XIV.—DAVID TERRY, No. 199 Mulberry-st.

XV.—THOMAS DENNY, No. 11 Clinton-place.

XVI.—L. JACKES, No. 75 West 22d-st.

XVII.—S. L. LEWIS, No. 81 West 22d-st.

XVIII.—W. S. SWAN, No. 21st Street.

XIX.—WILLIAM LEAKE, East 30th, near 4th-av.

XX.—JAMES DELAWARE, No. 180 West 32d-st.

XXI.—WM. H. LINDHORN, No. 33 Lexington-st.

R.—M. H. MARKEY, Secretary.

NOTICES OF THE FIRST EDITION.

"The author of this monograph has rare intellectual faculties, and his work is well executed, occupies a high position in the opinion of the most gifted physicians of our day."—Georgia Medical and Surgical Journal.

"Dr. John O'Reilly, whose original researches in physiology, and whose unique and important discoveries for enriched the medical world, are presented in this volume, will be entitled to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"It is a very good book, not able work; having the rare merit of originality, and clearly showing that the mind which produced it is not an ordinary one."—Baltimore Journal of Medicine.

"All through this book, Dr. O'Reilly proves himself a professor, as well as a physician; indeed, we might devine him the more closely. It is therefore that we claim for him a careful and thoughtful perusal of his theories, in which he gives the nervous system an importance and place which we have not before given it, and which will amply rewards the reader."—Boston Journal of Medicine.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O'Reilly's book, though it is a poor one, will be entitled
to all the credit due to the present mean an elaborate
article, which cannot fail to attract professional interest at
home and abroad. Let not its length prevent its candid
perusal, for he is one of the few men who refuse to think by
proxy."—American Medical Gazette.

"Dr. O